BASIC NEEDS

BUILDING BLOCKS

By working to ensure all residents have access to healthcare, housing and food, we are improving the quality of life for our neighbors and creating opportunities for a better tomorrow.

My name is Maria and my family, and I have been residents of Milford for many years. I am the proud wife of a disabled husband and mother to two amazing children. My husband was not always disabled and there was a time when he was an amazing provider for me and the kids, both financially and emotionally. Unfortunately, it all started going down hill about six years ago. It began with a seemingly harmless disease, as my husband was diagnosed with diabetes in 2014. But after a toe amputation, it seemed like anything that could go wrong, did. He started getting terrible ulcers from all the medications he was taking, which in turn lead to multiple infections. As if this was not bad enough, he soon developed MRSA in his spine. After numerous surgeries in an attempt to put together his collapsed spine, two rods were put in his spinal column along with 26 nuts and bolts. He was in and out the hospital more times than I can remember, and it was a horrendous time for my family. Just as he was starting to feel better, he lost all circulation in another limb, and had to have that amputated as well. After multiple nursing homes and rehabilitation facilities, his condition only became worse. As the infections ravaged his insides, he was admitted back to the hospital for nine more months.

During this time, he lost the use of his colon, and he now has a colostomy bag. But through all the pain and frustration he has been so brave and resilient, even when there was no end in sight. It has been a long and arduous six years for the entire family, and an ongoing struggle.

Without the help of the United Way, we never would have gotten out of that great giant hole of despair that was about to consume our entire family. They gave us a reason to hold onto that hope, through some much-needed moral and emotional support, donations of gift cards, & utility assistance. Their resources are seemingly endless, and their constant dedication to helping families in need is unparalleled.

They have and continue to do so much for us, that words cannot even come close to showing our gratitude. And as my family begins the next leg of our journey together, I must admit that I need to be on call for my husband 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We are eternally grateful for everything that they have done and continue to do on a daily basis.

“Your contribution to United Way puts individuals and families on the path to financial and emotional stability.”
